PREFACE

21 On the one hand, Plaintiffs<sup>1/</sup> ask this Court to strictly 22 enforce the stipulated order to seal the Court file in this 23 matter, notwithstanding that there was no judicial finding 24 warranting such sealing. On the other, Plaintiffs ask the Court
25 to ignore another stipulated order, namely that the Mutual Release

26

27

28

<sup>1/</sup> For ease of reference, the Church of Scientology of California and Mary Sue Hubbard shall be collectively referred to as Plaintiffs herein.

1 of All Claims and Settlement Agreement be filed. Indeed, even 2 though that order further provided that the Court would retain
3 jurisdiction to enforce said agreement, Plaintiffs have now "sua
4 sponte" decided that that Court Order should not be enforced.

6 Plaintiffs must believe that there are two sets of rules
7 governing court procedures depending on the result they seek.

9 ARGUMENT

10
11 Plaintiffs assert three bases for their Opposition to 12 CORYDON's Motion:

- 13 (1) That CORYDON has no standing to ask for this order;
14 (2) That the failure to file the Mutual Release
15 Agreement should be ignored; and
16 (3) That the document sought, if ordered to be produced
17 and filed, should be excluded from this Court's general
18 unsealing order.

19
20 These points are all without merit.

21
22 I

23 CORYDON HAS STANDING TO ASK THE COURT TO ORDER
24 THE FILING OF THE AGREEMENT

26 This Court has already ruled that CORYDON has demonstrated 27 adequate standing to examine the previously sealed files in this 28 action. (See Exhibit A, Transcript of Proceedings of November 9,

1 1988 at P. 7, lines 17-25.) As such, CORYDON is entitled to see
2 the file in its entirety, and to identify omissions for the Court.
3 Plaintiffs can no more claim, in equity, that CORYDON's right does 4 not extend to documents which should have been filed then they 5 could remove documents already filed and claim CORYDON has no
6 right to see them.

8 Alternatively, insofar as the Court itself previously ordered 9 that the document be filed and that its enforcement be subject to 10 continuing Court review, CORYDON is bringing to the Court's
11 attention Plaintiffs' disregard of its orders so that the Court
12 may determine whether, as Plaintiffs contend, they can seek, then 13 ignore, the Court's orders.

14
15 Standing is not an issue.

16
17 II

18 PLAINTIFFS' ARGUMENT THAT IT NEED NOT FILE THE
19 AGREEMENT PURPORTS TO REPLACE JUDICIAL PROCESS
20 WITH UNILATERAL FIAT AND SHOULD BE 21 DISREGARDED.

23 Plaintiffs ask this Court to ignore the Order Dismissing
24 Action with Prejudice (Exhibit "B") as to the portion thereof
25 regarding the filing of the Mutual Release. They justify this 26 disregard of a Court Order by saying, in essence, that since it
27 was stipulated order, so long as the other party doesn't object
28 they can ignore it with impunity. We are further asked to believe

1 that because Judge Breckenridge permitted the return of the 2 archive documents<sup>2/</sup> to go forward knowing that the Release had not
3 been filed, that he agreed that the filing order was superfluous
4 and could be ignored. The Court's minute order of December 17,
5 1986, on which Plaintiff relies, makes no such statement and did
6 not vacate any portion of the Order Dismissing Action. A copy of 7 that Minute Order is attached hereto as Exhibit "C".

9 Notwithstanding Plaintiffs' cavalier attitude to that Court
10 Order, their position as to the order sealing the Court file
11 reflects a very different view. As to that order the Court may 12 recall Plaintiffs have argued that it cannot be touched, indeed it
13 is not within the Court's power to modify or vacate it because it 14 was part of the parties bargained for settlement. That was the 15 argument this Court rejected in connection with the original
16 motion to unseal the within file. See Transcript of November 9, 17 1988 proceedings attached hereto as Exhibit "A". By persisting in 18 this argument, it would seem Plaintiffs are advancing a theory
19 under which not only can they ignore orders of the court but which 20 gives them more power over the files of this action than has the 21 Court! However, although untenable and self-serving, even 22 Plaintiffs' theory that a stipulated order can be ignored if the 23 parties "unstipulate" doesn't support the result they seek, since 24 Gerald Armstrong, the other signatory to the agreement in issue, 25 has not opposed the pending motion. Accordingly, we may assume 26 that he does not wish that order ignored.

27
28 <sup>2/</sup> As previously briefed, the term archive document refers to the allegedly covert documents which was the basis of the original.

1 Not surprisingly, Plaintiffs have cited no authority in 2 support of their position.

3 III

4 THE MUTUAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT
5 SHOULD NOT BE SEALED.

7 With respect to the issue of sealing the Mutual Release and 8 Settlement Agreement, Plaintiffs claim, two years after the fact,
9 that they are still entitled to a sealing order but, as before,
10 they offer no reason for this view whatsoever. They are correct
11 in saying that such agreements have been frequently sealed in 12 recent years. However, as Champion v. Superior Court (1988) 247
13 Cal.Rptr. 624 laments, such routine sealing is contrary to public
14 policy.<sup>3/</sup> The court stated:

15
16 "The decision in Mary R. v. B. R. Corp (1983)
17 149 Cal.App.3d 388, 196 Cal.Rptr. 871, reminds 18 us that, however appealing it may be to merely 19 accept a stipulation by the parties to seal a
20 record, the temptation must be resisted. . .
21 [quoting] 'We believe it clearly improper,
22 even on stipulation of the parties, for the 23 court to issue an order designed not to 24 preserve the integrity and efficiency of the 25 administration of justice [citation] but to 26

27
28 <sup>3/</sup> Plaintiff cites Champion for the proposition that sealing is frequently done thus giving the impression that the case supports that practice. The contrary is true.

1 subvert public policy. . ." 247 Cal.Rptr. at 2 630 citing Mary R., 149 Cal.App.2d at 316, 196
3 Cal.Rptr. 871. (emphasis added).

5 No sufficient reason was offered in the December 11, 1986
6 hearing for the sealing of the court files and, in fact, the 7 sealing of the Mutual Release Agreement wasn't even separately
8 discussed. Accordingly, CORYDON maintains that this Court is 9 entitled to enforce the order to file the Agreement and, absent an 10 appropriate showing, should not order it to be sealed.
11

12 IV

13 THE COURT HAS INHERENT POWER TO ORDER THE 14 AGREEMENT PRODUCED TO DETERMINE WHETHER IT IS 15 ILLEGAL OR A VIOLATION OF PUBLIC POLICY.
16

17 Although denying that the terms of the Franks Agreement are 18 the ones in issue, Plaintiffs go to great pains to argue that the 19 terms thereof, including the requirement to avoid service of 20 process and a $50,000 liquidated damages provision for being 21 amenable to service, are valid and enforceable. This is 22 principally based on Plaintiffs' surprising reading of the clause
23 requiring that the signatory not be "amenable" to service of 24 process. That is to say, that Plaintiffs equate not being 25 amenable to process with not facilitating service of process.
26 (Opposition at p.11). However, that is clearly not the ordinary 27 meaning of the phrase "not amenable to service of process" which 28 / / /

1 refers to the person who is outside the jurisdiction of the court
2 and/or who actively seeks to frustrate service of process.

4 Accordingly, the import of the Franks Agreement is that, on 5 pain of a $50,000 penalty, the signatory is persuaded to avoid
6 service of process. Consequently, if the signatory is a witness
7 as defined in Penal Code § 136, the Agreement is a
8 crime by the Church of Scientology of California under California
9 law. Penal Code § 136.1. Matter of Holmes (Second Dist., 1983)
10 145 Cal.App.3d 934, 942, 193 Cal.Rptr. 790, 795. A witness is 11 defined at § 136 as follows:

12 "'Witness' means any natural person, (i)
13 having knowledge of the existence or
14 nonexistence of facts relating to any crime,
15 or (ii) whose declaration under oath is 16 received or has been received as evidence for 17 any purpose, or (iii) who has reported any 18 crime to any peace officer, prosecutor,
19 probation or parole officer, correctional 20 officer or judicial officer, or (iv) who has 21 been served with a subpoena issued under the 22 authority of any court in the state, or of any
23 other state or of the United States, or (v)
24 who would be believed by any reasonable person
25 to be an individual described in subparagraphs
26 (i) to (v), inclusive."

27 Where, as here, Armstrong's declarations under oath include
28 knowledge of facts relating to crimes by Scientology entities and

1 individuals, there is no doubt that he meets the definition of 2 witness. While there are many other such instances, i.e., see
3 Exhibit "E" hereto which includes two declarations showing
4 knowledge of facts regarding the false report of a crime.

6 Even if not criminal, such oppressive terms are certainly a
7 violation of public policy. As written, the Franks Agreement
8 subjects Franks to the intolerable uncertainty that, regardless of 9 how he responds to attempted service, he may be hauled into court
10 for being, in Plaintiffs' view, "amenable" to process. Given the 11 notoriety of Scientology as a litigious entity and given its 12 enormous financial resources, these terms subject Franks to an 13 oppressive uncertainty not consistent with public policy.

14
15 Furthermore, where as here such settlement terms have 16 certainly been imposed on all the highest ranking ex-
17 Scientologists with knowledge of facts about the organization (see 18 Exhibit "H" to Motion), and where sealing orders have been 19 obtained in all litigated cases (as observed in the December 11, 20 1986 transcript), then the undeniable effect is to obstruct both 21 discovery and legitimate inquiry by other litigants and the

1 interested public into the actions of Scientology entities.<sup>4/</sup> Such 2 a scheme is an obstruction of justice and the isolated agreement
3 must be examined as part of the whole.

5 Further indications that the failure to file the Mutual
6 Release is part of a scheme to obstruct justice can be seen in the 7 manipulations used by Plaintiffs to obtain the return of the 8 Exhibits as well as the archive documents even though an appeal
9 was pending on the denial of damages on their complaint. Consider 10 the following sequence of events:

- 11
12 1. Armstrong's cross-complaint was dismissed in 13 return for a Mutual Release of All Claims even 14 though Plaintiffs preserved their right to 15 appeal the denial of damages. But would 16 Armstrong's counsel really have advised him to 17 give up his cross-claims while agreeing to let 18 Plaintiffs pursue the denial of damages unless 19 he knew they would not prosecute the appeal?

20 / / /

22 <sup>4/</sup> Widespread sealing orders were revealed in the colloquy
23 regarding the stipulated sealing order:

24 "THE COURT: ... What is it that you have in 25 mind, (sealing) the file itself?

26 MR. HERTZBERG: Yes, Your Honor. That is the 27 procedure that the Church has insisted on and 28 all courts have agreed to in various other Scientology cases involving Mr. Flynn and others which have been settled."

Transcript of Proceedings, attached hereto as Exhibit "D", page 6, lines 23-28.

1 2. Even though the appeal was pending, Plaintiffs
2 get back the archive documents and the 3 Exhibits because it was stipulated that, if
4 the complaint were to be retried the Exhibits
5 wouldn't be needed???? (See Transcript of 6 December 11, 1986 at page 4, lines 3-17, Ex. D hereto).
7 Once again, this representation rings false
8 unless there would, in fact, be no attempt to 9 prosecute the appeal.

10
11 3. As recited in Plaintiffs' opposition to 12 another pending motion for the return of the 13 Exhibits, the appeal was dismissed as 14 premature right after the settlement (but 15 before being notified of the settlement) on 16 the ground that the appeal court wouldn't 17 entertain it until the entire case was 18 adjudicated.

19
20 4. Since the cross-claim had been dismissed,
21 Plaintiffs then refile the appeal thus barring 22 collateral estoppel, barring witnesses from 23 speaking, hiding the evidence and sealing the 24 file but never prosecute the appeal.

25
26 The inescapable conclusion is that preserving Plaintiffs'
27 right to appeal was a subterfuge to prevent collateral estoppel
28 from attaching while permitting Plaintiffs to preclude any

1 legitimate inquiry into the matters herein as they are still 2 seeking to do. The "gag order" in the Mutual Release was an
3 integral part of this plan.

5 The issue of the legality of the agreement would, of course,
6 be better evaluated if the actual agreement were before the court
7 and this court, being apprised of potential illegality of an 8 agreement over which it has jurisdiction may, sua sponte, initiate 9 an inquiry into its legality. Morey v. Paladini (1922) 187 Cal.
10 727, 734, 203 P.760; LaFortune v. Ebie (1972) 26 Cal.App.3d 72, 75
11 Cal.Rptr. 588, 589.

12
13 CONCLUSION

14
15 This Court should be alert to Plaintiffs' efforts to 16 manipulate the procedures and records of the Court to suit their 17 own purposes in contravention of public policy and should not 18 permit it. A valid order of this court has been ignored and this 19 court should enforce it.

20
21 In addition, CORYDON, a person whose interests are affected
22 by that Mutual Release, has raised substantial issues regarding 23 its potential invalidity. Since it is an of an agreement over 24 which this Court has jurisdiction, this Court should exercise its 25 inherent power to inquire into the matter. Whether that document,

26 / / /

27 / / /

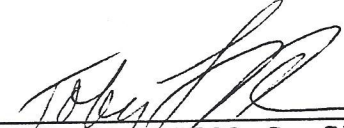

28 / / /

1 once produced, should be sealed might not best be determined in
2 vacuo. Nevertheless, to the extent that the sealing would subvert
3 judicial process and obstruct justice, then no such protection is 4 warranted.

6 In summary, CORYDON urges this Court to order the document
7 produced and filed.
